

Enniskillen Place Shaping Plan 2035 Easy Read Version

Introduction

Enniskillen, Ireland's only island town, has great beauty, as well as being historically important, with many lovely buildings. The County Town is based in a key area between Upper and Lower Lough Erne and must make use of current trends to make town centres vibrant, less car focused and thriving places for communities; Places that serve a range of uses and encourage people to visit and stay longer.

Place shaping is about shaping a better place to be, making Enniskillen more sustainable, attractive, and vibrant. The aim is to help the local community and economy and provide an accessible, inclusive, and healthy environment.

Plan Development

Various government and community and voluntary organisations were involved in the development of the Enniskillen Place Shaping Plan informing it's content. The views of the public also shaped the content of the plan through two rounds of public engagement. A summary of the public engagement is provided below.
