

APPENDICES

Appendix 1

Types of Educational Facilities

- Nursery Schools and Units - Nursery provision falls into two categories: units attached to existing primary schools and stand-alone nursery schools. Nursery Units come under the umbrella of the Primary School they are attached to and are managed by their Boards of Governors, while Nursery Schools have their own Boards of Governors.
- Voluntary Maintained Schools - Voluntary Maintained primary and secondary schools are managed by Boards of Governors, which consist of members nominated by trustees (mainly Roman Catholic), along with representatives of parents, teachers, CCMS and the Education Authority/Education and Library Boards. Teachers are employed by the CCMS.
- Voluntary Grammar Schools - Voluntary Grammar Schools are permitted to select pupils on the basis of their ability. A voluntary grammar (VG) school is a post-primary school managed by a Board of Governors, which consists of persons appointed in line with each school's scheme of management (usually trustees or foundation governors) along with representatives of parents and teachers and, in most cases, members appointed by the Department of Education. VG Schools are funded directly by the Department of Education.
- Controlled Schools - Controlled primary and secondary schools are provided for and managed by the Education Authority (EA) through Boards of Governors. The role of EA is to plan provisions for schools, employ teachers and meet recurrent costs. Although open to those of all faiths and none, they cater primarily for Protestant children.
- Independent Schools – An independent school is a school at which full-time education is provided for pupils aged from four to 16 and is not grant aided. These schools set their own curriculum and admissions policies and are funded by fees paid by parents and income from investments. Each independent school must be registered with DE and is inspected regularly by the Education and Training Inspectorate (ETI).
- Integrated Schools - The Northern Ireland Council for Integrated Education (NICIE) is a voluntary organisation which promotes, develops and supports integrated education. The schools are all-ability, following the statutory curriculum and NICIE negotiate with DENI to facilitate the creation of new schools and to assist existing schools that wish to transform to integrated status. It is funded by the DENI and the Integrated Education Fund.
- Irish - Medium Schools – There are two types of Irish-medium schools, those which are stand-alone schools and those which are attached to English-medium host schools. Comhairle na Gaelscolaíochta was formed by DE in 2000 and its remit is to promote Irish-medium education. The Council for Irish Medium schools is funded by the Department of Education.

- Special Schools - Under the 1986 Education and Libraries (NI) Order, Education and Library Boards have to provide education for pupils with special educational needs up to the age of 19. They can be taught in mainstream primary and secondary schools but there are also separate special units for some students. Special Schools have children from Nursery School age to 16+ and as children can move to the school at any stage it is hard to predict enrolment figures as it is dependent on need. These are provided for and managed by the EAWR through Boards of Governors.
- Further Education Provision - Both Fermanagh and Omagh Colleges of Further Higher Education are now collectively known as the South West College, along with other campuses located at Dungannon and Cookstown and it provides further education for the Plan area. DEL is responsible for all higher and further education facilities. CAFRE (College of Agriculture, Food and Rural Enterprise) have a campus just outside of Enniskillen in Levaghly, which along with Antrim (Greenmount) and Cookstown (Loughery) colleges provide additional further educational opportunities.
